GRADUATING CLASS IS ORPHEUM CROWDED TO SUPERIOR MEN HAVE ADDRESSED BY HEAR SPEAKERS ON INHERITED FROM REV. CARVER MOTHERS' DAY MOTHERS

The Mothers' Day service in the First Presbyterian church drew a very large congregation yesterday. The music was in keeping with the spirit of the day and evidenced the hold the day has upon the hearts of the people.

In the evening the Baccalaureate services for the graduating class of the Ogden High school, were held at 8 o'clock. The auditorium was decorated with the colors of the High school and sections were reserved for the four classes. The graduating class was a large one and about eighty members filled the section reserved for them. The First Methodist and the First Congregational united in this service. Reverend Rassweller and Reverend Waldo taking part in the services. Music for the evening was furnished by Misses Pierce, Anderson, Hunter, Laird and Griffin. In the sermon to the class, Reverend Carver in part:

"Gilbert K. Chesterton says: 'If there is anywhere a man who has really lost hope, his face out of a whole crowd of men will strike us as a blow. He may hang himself or become prime minister. It matters nothing. He is dead. Nerved by hope, Hawthorne made bare facts of New England to become American classics. Quickened by hope, Shakespeare made cold history become living drama. The 23rd Psalm and the parable of the prodigal son were not the products of cold genius. They were the breathings of devout souls kindled by undying hope. The school and instructor, by implanting a quickening hope in the life of the student, does as much as in training the mind and talent to make that hope real. Education is not only meant to train, but to develop and polish. It must also inspire to do the best work."

"We hear much about preparedness these days. The public school is ever a center of preparedness in the true sense. It is in the public school that the rank and file of the folk of tomorrow are prepared for the real and not the imaginary battles of life. Wars may or may not come, but the struggles of life are sure and in them the winners are the prepared ones. When the France-Prussian war was declared by France, an official brought the information to Von Moltke. Von Moltke coolly turned in his bed and said, 'Go to my safe and from plain hole No. 7 take the papers and telegraph; then direct to the commanders of the Empire.' Von Moltke was the coolest man in Germany. When asked why he was not more excited, he said, 'All my work for this has been done beforehand and all has been done that can be done.' By doing duty to his duty arose, he was prepared for the struggle and the result showed it. There is no more pathetic figure in life than the person who has had opportunity and used it not and is confronted with the demand for skill he might have had but his it not. The high and grade schools of our land are the real centers for preparedness in our land, for in them the trends are made that make or mar life. If we 'sluff' our work and seek the easy courses, we are simply borrowing trouble for the time, soon comes when the hard and difficult of life cannot be avoided. The soft places of life are not numerous enough to last all our days."

"Life is more than the few years of our existence here. Life includes all of eternity. If we are only prepared for the life here, we are like the soldier whose ammunition and provisions run out the first day of battle. The abilities of mind and heart and soul are carried beyond death. If all our getting is only of the material things of life then we are poor indeed at the end of life. The true preparedness seeks to provide for body and life needs as well. If we spend all on the body we have very little of intrinsic worth. It is what we are and not what we have that makes us. 'All thoughts of ill; all evil deeds, That have their roots in thoughts of ill:'

Whatever hinders or impedes The noble action of the will; All these must first be trampled down

Beneath our feet. If we would gain The right of eminent domain, We have not wings we cannot soar; But we have feet to scale and climb By slow degrees, by more and more, The cloudy summits of our time."

"Character is what remains after all else is taken. When weak and health, when fame and friends are gone with the years, then when we gather up the influences and attainments of life we find the real man and woman and that is character. You are making it now. The first years mean most. The joys and sorrows of life are very real to youth but not nearly as real as the opportunities and responsibilities for youth life. Happiest and most valued are the school days of youth."

"The longer on this earth we live And weigh the various qualities of men

The more we feel the high, stern featured beauty

Of plain devotedness to duty. Steadfast and still, nor paled with mortal praise.

But finding amplest recompense For life's ungarlanded expense

In work done squarely and unwast- in youth."

"The foundation of all that is laid of days

Rev. Rassweller gave the charge to the graduating class. A very large number attended the service.

Laugh, giggle and roar at Chaplin in "Carmen," now playing The Ogden. It's sure immense!

Nearly 1800 people, mainly mothers of Ogden and Weber county, attended the "Mothers' Day" celebration held at the Orpheum theater yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the local women's clubs. Rev. P. A. Simpkin of Salt Lake City was the speaker of the afternoon and his address was considered one of the finest tributes to mothers and motherhood ever delivered from a local platform. The aged and infirm mothers of the city were taken to and from their homes in automobiles, by a committee of which, Mrs. David Eccles was chairman. This fine courtesy made possible the attendance of a large number who might otherwise have not been able to receive of the honors prepared for them.

Each mother was presented with a white carnation and the program was carried out as follows:

The musical part of the program consisted of selections by the Orpheum orchestra and the following solos:

"Mother of Mine," William H. Manning; "Songs My Mother Used to Sing," Miss Isabelle Holberg; and "Dear Old Ma," Miss Anna Williamson, and selections by the Criterion quartet.

The tableaux, representing the seven ages of womanhood, was a very impressive feature, and was as follows:

Childhood—Lillian Sheehan, Lorna and Lorene Walis; Rites of Youth—Dorothy Agee, Geneva Roberts, Ruth Craven, Francis Hobbs, Thelma and Georgia Golling, Irene Lockwood and Mirene Rich.

Girlhood—Josephine Volker, Vera Wright, and Beatrice Brewer.

Bride—Flora Eccles.

Motherhood—Mrs. Ralph Farr.

Family—A. L. Brewer.

Four generations—Martha A. Ferrin, Joseph L. Ferrin, Joseph L. Ferrin and Edith Ferrin.

Grandmother—Mrs. Harriet S. Emerson.

Rev. Simpkin, in his address, described mother love as the greatest in the world and that the pure color of the white carnation represented all that the word "mother" stood for. His tribute to motherhood was to the women that wanted to be mothers, and he condemned those who tried to shirk their sacred duty.

Every number of the program was rendered with impressive forcefulness, the tableaux being especially fine.

The tableaux were staged under the direction of Sam T. Whitaker.

The mothers were from the Home Economics club of the Weber academy.

The success of the program was due to the efforts of the following general committee: Mrs. Archie Bowman, chairman, Child Culture club; Mrs. A. B. Corey, Historical club; Mrs. Joseph Wright, Ladies' Literary club; and Mrs. Jay Smith, Home Culture club. The above committee was assisted by the members of the women's clubs.

STAKE OFFICIALS

RETURN HOME

President John V. Bluth of the North Weber Stake, returned this morning from a ten-days' visit to the wards and branches in Nevada, accompanied by David W. Evans, Stake Clerk, and Mrs. Mary A. Terry, Relief Society stake secretary. Patriarch Nathan Hawkes, who had accompanied the party on the entire trip, remained to spend a couple of weeks in the various wards in the performance of his work.

Aside from cold weather, which made auto and team traveling quite disagreeable, the party had a splendid and very successful trip, visits being made to the wards of McGill, Preston, Lind and Metropolis, and the branches of Ely, Ruth, Ruby and Afton. From one to four meetings were held in each place.

HONORS GO TO

THE HIGH SCHOOL

At the Ogden high school today, Miss Mary Woolley, a sophomore, received congratulations for her winning of first place and a medal in the final state high school declamation contest last Thursday night at the University of Utah.

Miss Woolley is the second young lady to bring this prize to the local high school, the first state declamation championship being won by Miss Jennetta Stephens, her coach, and present head of the education department of the high school. Miss Woolley's declamation was the witch scene from "Macbeth."

PROBATE MATTERS

IN DISTRICT COURT

In the estate and guardianship of Samuel Joseph Smith, the minor has petitioned the district court to appoint County Clerk Harry Hales his guardian. He is nineteen years of age and claims that he is heir to an estate, the business affairs of which needs the attention of a legal guardian.

An order has been issued authorizing the mortgaging of certain property to secure a loan in the sum of $900, in the estate of John Keyser, deceased.

In the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning, in the keeping of Mothers' Day, Miss Rosemond Laird sang very beautifully, "My Hymn to Mother," Miss Vera Frey played some delightful variations of "Home Sweet Home," and Rev. G. F. Rassweller preached upon "A Mother in Israel" referring to Deborah, who had liberated Israel, brought order out of chaos, was prophet to the nation, but above all was called "A Mother in Israel." In part, he said: "Deborah might have been called 'a general,' or 'a reformer,' or 'a hero,' but she was called rather, 'A Mother in Israel,' as if this were greater, or as if it included all the others. And is it not so? How much there is in the name mother! It is written with a pen cut from the cross of sacrifice; written with the devotion and the tears of her pain and sorrows; but, adorned with the golden joy of a mother's rapture. When we hear the word mother, we seem to hear something of the surge of the infinite parenthood of God, something of her heart beat of passionate devotion, something of her sob of anguish, but withal, something of her laughter of joyous victory."

Jean Paul Richter has well said, "Unhappy the man for whom his own mother has not made all other mothers venerable." Thus we can understand the Jewish custom of lighting a taper in honor of a departed mother on each anniversary of her death, and the medieval custom of giving the apprentice a holiday to "Go to Mothering" and take a token of esteem to the mother at home, or even the Marjority of the middle ages. Michelet has well said: "It is the general rule that all superior men inherit the elements of their superiority from their mothers." Thus, John Quincy Adams was well justified when he said: "All that I am, my mother made me."

MORALS.

Then Deborah helped to bring back condition of law and order, when travel was again safe, and the law of God was better observed. So it is the mission of mother to develop a well ordered life in the children committed to her; to restrain the wild impulses, and curtail the restive desires. Just the training in good manners, cleanliness, restrained behavior, carefully done tasks go to make up character. How much the world owes mothers for safety and good order in society. How much have the hands of mothers formed the character of their children. As Dickens has said: "I think it must somewhere be written that the virtues of mothers shall be visited upon their fathers, as well as the sins of their fathers." How remarkably was this illustrated in the influence of the mother of the Wesleys over her family.

What? Haven't seen Charlie

Chaplin in "Carmen?" Then you had better hurry to The Ogden Theater and see him. Great!

WORLD'S MARKETS

New York, May 15.—Developments over the week and imparted further strength to the stock list, prices showing substantial though variable gains at today's opening. Two new maximums were soon established, Reading rising a fraction over its previous best at 91 1/4, while Willits-Overland made a new record on its rise of 8 points to 272. Studebaker, which featured last Saturday's active operations, made another rise of 3 at 144, with advances of a point or better for Maxwell, shipping shares, Westinghouse, Air Brake, United States Rubber and Mexican Petroleum. Among rails Canadian and New Haven were again strong.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, May 15.—Wheat today fluctuated nervously, influenced on the one hand by good rains in the southwest but on the whole by Kansas reports that the fields were badly infested with Hessian fly. The fact that Oklahoma received no moisture over Sunday tended to handicap the bears, and so too did higher quotations from Liverpool. Opening prices, which ranged from 3-8 decline to 1-8-1/4c advance, with July at $1.17 to $1.17 3/8, were followed by a moderate general upturn, and then a material setback.

Corn hardened owing to storms that delayed planting. Advances were checked though by the uncertain course of wheat. After opening a shade to 1-4-3/8c higher, prices gained a little more, and then underwent a slight reaction.

Oats merely reflected the action of corn. Trade was very light.

Higher prices on hogs brought about an advance in provisions. Commission houses were the chief buyers.

Chicago Hog Values.

Chicago, May 15.—Hog values were forced to the highest point in six years today. The supply here was 9000 less than on last Monday, and 4000 less than on the corresponding day a year ago. Arrivals of cattle, sheep and lambs were also inadequate.

Chicago Hog Market.

Chicago, May 15.—Hogs—Receipts 33,000; strong, 10 1/2c above Saturday's average. Bulk, $10.10@10.25; light, $9.85@10.20; mixed, $9.85@10.20; heavy, $9.80@10.35; rough, $9.80@9.90; pigs, $7.50@9.60.

Omaha Livestock.

Omaha, Neb., May 15.—Hogs—Receipts 7200. Higher. Heavy, $9.70@9.90; light, $9.60@9.80; pigs, $8.00@9.00; bulk of sales, $9.60@9.80.

Cattle—Receipts 3800; higher. Native steers, $8.00@8.50; cows and heifers, $6.75@8.25; western steers, $7.50@9.00; Texas steers, $7.00@8.00.

PICTURES PRESENTED TO COURTS BY THE LAWYERS

Sitting en banc this morning, Judge Nathan J. Harris and Judge James A. Howell received a number of pictures of men who sat on the district and probate court benches in years past and ordered that they be placed on the walls of the court room occupied by Judge Howell. The presentation was made by Mayor A. R. Heywood, president of the Ogden Bar association, in a few well chosen words. The mayor stated that the pictures were presented to the court by the bar association out of respect to the men represented by them. He introduced Attorney C. C. Richards who made a few remarks in behalf of the older members of the bar and Attorney D. L. Stine who spoke for the younger members.

Bright Idea.

"How does the breakfast suit you, Johnny?" inquired the young bride anxiously.

"It's just right, dearest," said her husband. "It may be plebian, but I'm awfully fond of calves' liver for breakfast."

"So am I, dear," said the wife. "Oh, John, don't you think it would pay us to keep a calf?" Then we could have liver every morning for breakfast."
